

INDIAN CREEK BENGALS

Thank you for choosing one of our Bengal cats to own you! Please feel free to call with any questions or concerns.

STUD SERVICE AGREEMENT

On this _____ day of _____, 20____, this agreement is hereby made by and between Norine James, doing business as Indian Creek Bengals, hereinafter referred to as "stud owner" _____ hereinafter referred to as "queen owner".

Stud Service Conditions

Owner of the queen must show registration papers for the queen, and provide contact information from the Dam's breeder to confirm that the Queen's owner has breeding rights for said queen. Queen's owner consents to Indian Creek contacting the Dam's breeder.

Name /Cattery of queen's breeder _____

Contact phone # for queen's breeder _____

Owner of the queen must provide a veterinarian health certificate no more than 10 days old at the time of transfer. This will show that the queen is in good health, free of parasites and contagious disease, including negative results from FeLV/FIV testing.

Queens's owner will pay all travel expenses to and from the stud.

Queen's owner will be notified when Indian Creek is reasonably certain that the consummation took place. Failure to retrieve the queen within 5 days of notification will result in a $10/day kennel fee until the queen is returned.

Queen's owner will notify Indian Creek 3 weeks later to confirm pregnancy. If the queen does not conceive, reabsorbs or aborts her litter, the queen may be returned for rebreeding within 3 weeks with no additional stud fee. It is recommended that the queen be reexamined before rebreeding. If after 3 attempts with the stud, a litter is not conceived, one half of the fee will be reimbursed and this agreement is terminated. If the queen's owner elects to not repeat the failed breeding within 3 weeks, the contract is terminated and there are no refunds.

A viable litter is two or more kittens that survive to the minimum age of 2 weeks and beyond. Indian Creek makes no guarantees to health, quality, sex, color, or pattern of the offspring. If only one kitten is viable, the breeding may be repeated, however, Indian Creek will claim choice of one kitten from the second breeding. No additional stud fee will be due.

Indian Creek agrees to take normal, adequate care of the queen while in our possession, and to notify the queen's owner of any health condition presents. The queen's owner is encouraged to visit during the queen's stay. While unlikely, Indian Creek will not be responsible or held negligent for any illness, injury, or death of the queen while in our care. Any veterinary expenses incurred during or after the queens stay, will be the responsibility of the Queen's owner. Any injury to the stud will be the responsibility of Indian Creek.

Indian Creek will work with the queen's owner to register the litter at around 4 weeks of age. Stud's owner will provide Pedigree information of the stud.
